From the U. S. Military and Naval Magazine. THE LITTLE CREEN TO AT OF FORT GRATIOT. [Lake Horon.]

> Oh hie thee on, my little boat O'er yonder bright blue sea; Since thou hast borne beyond my sight All that is dear to me.
> Thou'rt fair upon the mirror'd lake,
> Gliding in pride along,
> Leaving behind thy righing wake,
> And sound of the beatmen's song.

And, as thy fading form is view'd.

Fond memory seeks the past—
How painful now the solitude
O'. r my existence cast.
But blessings on thee little boat, Kine sky and placid sea; Fair breeze befriend thee, when affoat, No tempest trouble thee.

Glide on, glide on, with rapid oar, Back to the far, far west, And moor thee on our sunny shore, A senson there to rest; A season there to rest;
And I will greet thy graceful form,
When seen on yonder sea,
For thou art pledged to bring again,
All that is dear to me.

> From Irving's Conquest of Florida JUAN ORTIZ.

Some Spaniards taken prisoners were condemned to Tie by the Indians :-

"Juan Ortiz, a lad scarcely eighteen years old, and of a noble family, was the fourth victim. As they were leading him forth, his extreme youth touched with compassion the hearts of the wife and daughters of the Cacique, who interceded in his favor.

Hirrihigua listened to their importunities, and for the present, granted the life of Ortiz ;-but it proved to be a most wretched boon. From morning until evening he was employed in carrying wood and water, being allowed but little sleep, and less food. Not a day passed that he was not beaten. On festivals he was an object of barbarous amusement to the Cacique, who would oblige him to run from sunrise to sunset, in the public square of the village, where his companions had been so barbarcusly sacrificed. Upon those occasions, a number of Indians were stationed at different parts of noons the quadrangle with bows and arrows, to shoot him, should he halt one moment. When the day was spent, the unfortunate youth lay stretched on the hard floor of his hut, more dead than alive. At such times, the Chief's wife and daughters would come to him privately with food and clothing, and by their kind treatment his life was preserved.

WINES, LiQUORS, &c.—The subscriber has just received, at No 8 Chatham street—25 quarter casks french Madeira Wine, Swea's cargo, a superior article—20 qr do Old Fort and Initation do—Sicily Madeira, Sweet and Dry Malaga, and other Wines—hald St Croix Rum—pipes Holland Gin, Cognae Brandy, &c.—all of the first quality, and will be sold low for cash or undoubted credit. his life was preserved.

At length the Cacique being determined to put an end to his victim's existence, ordered that he should be bound upon a wooden frame, in the form of a huge gridiron, placed over a bed of burning coals, and roasted

The cries and shrieks of the miserable sufferer reached his female protectors, and their entreaties were once more successful with the Cacique. They unbound Ortiz, dragged him from the fire, and took him to their dwelling, where they bathed his wounds with the juice of herbs, and tended him with assiduous care. After many days he recovered, though his body was marked with many a deep sear.

In this cemetery Ortiz was stationed, with a bow and arrows, to watch day and night, and was told, that should a single body be carried away, he would be burnt alive. He returned thanks to God for having freed him from the dreaded presence of Hirrihigua, hoping to lead a better life with the dead than he had lately done with the living.

With this hope he waited until the day dawned, when he beheld his victim, a huge creature of the panther kind, lying dead, the arrow having passed through its entrails and pierced its heart. Gathering together the mangled remains of the infant, and replacing them in the coffin, Ortiz dragged his prey in triumph to the village, with the arrow still in its body. The exploit gained him credit with the old hunters, and for some time softened even the ferocity of Hirrinigua. The resentment of the latter, however, for the wrongs he had suffered from white men, was 'oo bitter to be appeased. Some time after, his eldest daughter came to Ortiz and warned him that her father had determined to sacrifice him at the next festival, which was just at hand. She stated that the influence of her mother, her sisters, and herself, would be no longer of any avail to savethim, and therefore wished that he should take refuge with a neighboring Cacique named Mucozo, who had sought her in marriage, and would befriend him, for her sake. "This very night," said the kind-hearted maiden, "at the northern extremity of the village, you will find a trusty friend who will guide you to a bridge about two leagues hence; on arriving there, you must send him back, that he may reach home before the morning dawns, to avoid suspicion, -- for well he knows that this bold act, in daring to assist you, may bring down destruction on us both. Six leagues further on you will reach the village of Mucozo. Tell him that I have sent you, and expect him to befriend you in your extremity. I know he will do it. Go, and may your God protect you!" Ortiz threw himself at the feet of his gen- rich bindings. erous protectress, and poured out his acknowledgments of the kindness she had always shown him. An Indian was at the place appointed to direct him, and they quitted the village without alarming the warlike savages When they came to the bridge Ortiz seat back the guide, in obedience to the injunction of his mistress, and continuing his flight found himself, by break of day, on the banks of a small stream near the village of Mucozo. Looking cautiously round, he saw two natives fishing.

could not explain the cause of his appearance in their neighbourhood, ite was in dread lest they should take him for an enemy and kill him. He, therefore, ran swiftly to the place where they had deposited their weapons, and seized them. The savages fled to the village, without attending to his signs of friendly intention. The inhabitants sallied out armed with bows and arrows, and were about to attack him; but Ortiz fixing an arrow in his bow, prepared for defence, crying out at the same moment, that he came not as an enemy, but as an ambassador from a female Cacique to their chief. Fortunately one present understood him, and interpreted his words. Upon this the Indians unbent their bows, and returning with him to their village, presented him to Mucozo. The latter, a youthful chieftain, of a graceful form and handsome countenance, received Ortiz kindly for the sake of her who had sent him; but, on further acquaintance, became attached to him for his own merits, and treated him with the affection of a brother: Hirrihigua soon heard where the fugitive had taken refuge, and demanded several times that he should be delivered up. Mucozo as often declined; considering himself bound by the laws of honour and hospitality to protect him. Hirrihigua then employed as mediator another Cacique, a brother in-law of Mucozo, who went in person to dea and Ortiz. The generous Mucozo, however, indignantly refused to deliver up to a cruel enemy, the poor fugitive who had come so well recommended to his protection, and treated the request as a stain upon his honour. The two Caciques continued their importunities, but the high-minded savage remained faithful to his guest, though in maintaining inviolate the sacred rights of hospitality, he lost the friend-hip of his brother-in-law, and forfeited the hand of Hirrihigua's beautiful daughter, whom he tenderly loved."

THE SUBSCRIBER respectfully informs his friends and the public, that he has removed from shop formerly occupied by him, No 3 Congress square, to No 176 Tremont street, opposite the Tremont House, where he will keep constantly for sale an extensive assortment of Philosophical, Astronomical, and Surveyor's Instruments. Also, portable Marine, Mountain and House Barometers, together with a great variety of Thermometers, Telescopes, Spy and Opera Glasses—all of which he will sell at wholesale or retail at the lowest cash prices

PLEGANT ENGLISH PERFUMERY.-INS a EDWARD ATKINSON, Pertuners, 24 Old Bond St, corner of Burlington Gardens, London, have supplied their Agent, J. A. DICKSON, 26 Cornhill, formerly Market street, with a valuable quantity of the following articles, which have been generally approved—

FASIHON ABLE SOAPS.

FRIDAY MORNING, NOVEMBER 13, 1835.

Lavender water in use.

Atkinson's Vegetable Dye—changes red or grey hair on the head, or whiskers to an auburn or black, so permanent that neither washing, perspiration, nor any other cause can in the least affect it.

Bear's Grease, for the growth of Hair—This article is procured from the animal in its native climate, it being known to possess more vivifying proper ies when so procured, than when the animal is in a domesticated state. It is of the finest quality, and is sent out without any admixture, except a little perfume to keep it sweet—and for the growth of hair it is no doubt far superior to any thing hitherto known. Also for dressing the hair it is very pleasant and useful—cleansing the head from dandriff, and making the hair beautifully soft and glossy.

Atkinson's Carling Fluid, or Vegetable Hair Oil—for dressing the Hair. This article has been very generally patronised for the last twenty years—and is considered an indispensable appendage to the toilet—it is a most excellent article for drassing the hair, making it, however, harsh, soft and glossy as silk—and keeping it in curl in exercise or damp weather.

Almond Shaving Paste—in very neat portable pots; a very elegant and excellent preparation for staving.

Milk of Almonds—The most elegant and efficacious cosmetic hiherto introduced. It is a great improvement to what has long been known as Milk of Roses. It removes freekles, redness, roughness, &c. from the skin, and gives it a brilliant clearness and whiteness.

ness, roughness, &c. from the skin, and gives it a brilliant clearwess and whiteness.

Atkinson's Depilatory—For removing superfluous Hair on the Face, Neck or Arms, with equal certainty and safety, leaving the skin softer and whiter than before the application.

Hudson's Botanic Tooth Powfer and Tucture.—These Dentrifices, which have so much attracted the attention of the Medical Profession, are remedies for all disorders of the mouth; they not merely cleanse and beautify the Teoth, but preserve them from decay. They make the Teeth white, fasten such as are loose, eradicate the scurvy and tartar from the gums, leaving them firm sud of a healthy redness, and if used regularly will supersede the necessity of a Dentist.
They are entirely free of acid, and so innocent that a child may take the contents of a box of the Powder; and the Tincture is an excellent stomachic, and a certain remedy for the Toothache.

Hudson's Tooth Brushes-in sets of three-made on scien tific principles, and warranted in bone and ivory.

Atta Ad Deen Mahomed's Dye—for changing the hair on the head, cycbrows or whisk rs, to a permanent brown or black, by one application, without staining the skin or the finest linen.

Caution—Every article of James and Edward Atkinson's manufacture has their names and address distinct on the label, also—a small address stamp, similar to a patent medicine stamp, printed in colors.

BRITISH COLLEGE OF PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS, LONDON.

I has become a duty to acquaint the public that the genuine Improved Hyacian Valuatab Bills which we procured in accordance with the doctrines of the British College of Physicians and Surgeons, London, and which are recommended by the writings and practice of Sir Astley Cooper, Mr Abermethy, and the most eminent Physicians and Practitioners of Europe and America, are signed on the outer cover of every packes, in the following lawful and particular manner:

Joseph Ralph, M. D.—Graduate of the University of Edinburgh;—Member of the Royal College of Surgeons, London;—Lecturer on Midwiffy and the Diseases of Women and Children;—and Author of the "Family Physician," a Domestic Guide to Medicine."

(Note. The various document, Diplomas and stamped Certificates, which show the connection of the Author with the Institutions above mentioned are publicly exhibited at the General Office, Cortland street, N. Y. and may be seen by any individual at any time.)

indicidual at any time.)

Nothing seems to have afforded more general satisfaction and advantage to society, than having the Hygeian Medicine prescribed and prepared by a regular and practical physician, and one who may at all times be consulted or appealed to, either by post or otherwise, on the subject of its operation and disease. This also is the more appreciated in consequence of the number of different medicines which are daily advertised under various pretences in the name of "Hygeian." and "criginal Hygeian."

The directions which accompany

The directions which accompany every package of this Domestic Medicine, are exceedingly plain and particular,—the proper dose and management of the Fills being carefully given under the head of each disorder separately. Those who keep this medicine by them, especially country families, find that nothing is more economical or better adapted for family use, and being free from mercury or any hurtful property, they may always be resorted to with perfect safety. Neither is it too much to state with strict r gard to truth, that thousands are indebted to this medicine for the preservation of life and health.

The connection which exists between the organs of digeation and almost all deseases, being the basis of this Domestic Medicine, there is scarcely a disorder incident to human nature in which they are not taken advantageously, but those disorders in which the most remarkable instances of benefit and cures have been experienced are the following:—Bilious disorders, Dyspepsia, affections of the head and nervous complaints, with all those various disorders which originate in hot climates or from co. tive bowels. Also, Fevers, Inflammation, Gout, Rheumatism, Cut, neous Diseases, Jaundee, Liver Complaint, Scrophula, Coughs Which threaten Consumption, and especially Gravel, Gleet, and other weaknesses in the Urinary and Geintal organs.

This Medicine also, in a peculiar manner, is adapted to the disorders of the female constitution, both in early and more

The Election .- We have received returns of the votes for Governor from 265 towns, which give Morton, 23.817-Everett 35.473-In 92 towns, Armstrong has 1.666. For Lieut. Governor, in 199 towns, Foster has 23.111-Hull 24.210-scattering about 400. Mr Everett is undoubtedly elected, and we think Mr Foster's chance is good.

In the Senate, we shall have 17 members, viz :-3 from Norfolk, 3 from Bristol, 5 from Middlesex, 2 from Plymouth, 2 from Berkshire, and 2 from Hampden. The whigs will have 6 from Worcester, 6 from Suffolk, 5 from Essex, 2 from Hampshire, 1 from Franklin, and 1 from Barnstable, total 21 -- The vacancy in Essex, will also be filled by a democrat, which will give us EIGHTEEN members, where last year, we had none! If the whigs can find any thing to rejoice about in the result of the election, we certainly have no objections-the worst wish we wish them is that they may have many such victories!

The Loco Focas, the TREMENDOUS REFORMER PARTY! Who have been boasting of the immense strength they possessed in Boston, did not cast upwards of THREE HUNDRED VOTES on Monday last. while the "little knot," as these swaggerers denounced the Regular Democratic Party, gave SIXTEEN HUN-DRED at the lowest calculation.

Mr Amasa Walker was supported by all the minority parties-his whole vote was 2760-he received from the Democratic Party the number cast for Hall J. How, (whose name was only borne upon that ticket) 1597from the Free Bridge Party the number cast for Winslow Lewis, (whose name was on no other ticket) 374. which make 1971, leaving only 789 for him to have received from both the Anti-Masonic, and Loco Foco. (Reformer) Parties, of which the Anti-Masons cast. probably, nearly, or quite, 500, and the Loco Focos the remainder, viz: TWO HUNDRED AND EIGHTY NINE! Just about the same number they mustered in Faneuil Hall, when they made their great bu. unsuccessful attempt to elect their candidates for the County Committee.

Abner Kneeland .- After three attempts a jury has been obtained to convict Mr Kneeland of Blasphemy .-His fourth trial came on before Judge Wilde, of the Supreme Court, on Wednesday. He pleaded his own case, and yesterday the jury rendered a verdict of guilty, but recommended him to mercy. Mr Kneeland then offered two motions in arrest of judgment-one, that the verdict was against the weight of evidence, and the other that it was against law and the constitution, and that the indictment was insufficient and informal. The result of these motions will not be declared till Stephen Russell and Simeon L. Crocket were arraigned yesterday forenoon, upon the capital indictment, for setting fire to Mr Joshua Benson's house, on Haskin's wharf, on the the night of October 22d. They pleaded not guilty. They will probably be tried separately, early in December.

Conjugal Affection .- The intelligence of the late attempt on Louis Philippe was broken with the greatest care to his queen, but they could not persuade her that she knew the worst. She walked up and down the chamber ringing, her hands, or rushing herself to the door to question the Aid-de-camps who were despatched to bring intelligence. When the arrival of the king was at last announced, she ran down the stairs, met him at the doors of the palace, and bursting into tears, threw herself into his arms. Her daughters had followed her. and there was not a dry eye in the group, excepting the kings's, who preserved the same air of resolute composure he had kept through the whole transaction.

The Texas War in Boston .- Major Norton and our friend Transcript are looking somewhat fierce at each other-the latter says, in rather a menacing manner, "the Major should recollect that we stand almost as many inches in our stocking feet as he, and nearly as broad across the shoulders," and wear as heavy whiskers, he could have added. No blood had been spilt when our paper went to press. J. C. Park comes in for a slap from the Transcript, but as the Transcript and Mr P. are both members of "the House," they can settle their difference "elsewhere," as Speaker Rockwell would say.

The New York Election has terminated in the success certainly of the republican candidates in seven of the senate districts, and probably in the entire eight -a result, if such it shall prove to be, without a parallel in the history of this state. In this event, the next Senate will consist of 29 republicans, and 3 federal whigs. In the House, the republicans will probably number 112, the federal whigs 15, and 1 irregular .-Truly the "availables," one and all in this state, present for the consideration of their friends in other states, a flattering prospect of coming events !- Albany Ar-

It 3 We are rejoiced that George Bliss, the Imprisonment, Anti-Free Bridge Senator from Hampden, has lost his election. They will probably support him for Representative next year, in company with William Lloyd Garrison, one of their candidates on Monday

Mr Leggett .- We regret to learn that Mr Leggett. (editor of the N. Y. Evening Post,) is still very low, and that his disease, an affection of the lungs, promises little abatement. Indeed, fears are entertained by his most intimate friends that this sickness will be his last.

Judge Lynch.-Judge Lynch is a self-created administrator of justice-a kind of dictator in times of popular commotion, who professes to supply the deficiencies in our established courts, by redressing certain wrongs, or supposed wrongs, over which they exercise no jurisdiction. He is a great favorite with the people, when their feelings or prejudices have been outraged, or their rights have been infringed, and they can obtain no redress of their real or supposed grievances at the legitimate tribunals. In the mind of Judge Lynch, the will of the people is law-and so it ought to be, when declared their sentiments according to those established methods, which would signify that they are the will of the majority. But the Judge sympathizes with every burst of popular feeling, and is ready to condemn any one who has excited popular indignation, though the indignant party may be but a small minority of the people. Lynch is an itinerant officer-a sort of knight-errant, and is undoubtedly disposed to abide by justice in his decisions, but as he is not guided by any written code of laws, no person can be certain that he may not be an offender, while pursuing what he believes to be a most innocent employment. Since his rules of justice are written only in the hearts of the people, his judgment is always swayed by popular caprice and prejudices, and he reverses his decisions as often as he is so inclined by the influence of a different party. In one part of the country he will condemn an individual for preaching heresy, and in another section for preaching orthodoxy; in one place he punishes an individual for selling rum, and in another for lecturing in the cause of temperance; in one place he is a federalist, in another a democrat; here he is a Calvinist, and there the Judge's greatest failings is his want of independence of mind. Instead of abiding by his own sense of right and wrong, and the dictates of his own conscience, he is affected by the whims and prejudices of any people with whom he takes his abode. He is often guilty of very unjustifiable means of obtaining justice, and of very wrong measures in asserting rights. He allows lows them to enact the law, on the spot, according to which the criminal is to be tried and condemned .with the Judge concerning the hastiness and injustice of many of his decisions, and have begged him to leave the administration of justice to the proper tribunals .all the demands of justice, and that he is obliged to arise eccasionally in his might, to avenge those wrongs which our legitimate courts suffer to pass unredressed. The truth is, that Lynch is rather weaker in judgement than depraved in heart. He is possessed of many generous traits of character, but these are greatly overbalanced by his prejudices. He undoubtedly means well. yet, nevertheless, we think that if he will not volunta-

Lynch is very clearly a usurper, since though, as he supposes, appointed to office by the people—the people who appoint him are only a faction—they are a minority, and hence their will is not law. If it is true, as he asserts in his justification, that he usurps no more authorty than is usurped by the judges of our legal courts, yet the usurpations of the latter may always be checked, fect such reform in a constitutional manner. We conclude, by recommending to the people to consider the contradictory nature of the majority of Lynch's decisions, and the consequent uncertainty of obtaining justice at his factious tribunal.

"This is a most delightful work-fresh, graphic, yet exquisitely feminine. We have always felt that America was the true field for American writers. Their own revolution has every material for fiction-the high excitement, the wild adventure, the qualities that war always draws forth-and one of the most magnificent countries in the world, as the theatre of action. The state of society, too, was well fitted for display of character: there was civilization; and yet the scattered nabelongs to the highly polished and closely packed city. Such is the period in which Miss Sedgwick has laid her story. Her heroines are beautiful contrasts-"The one a flower, the other like a gem;" and the descriptions resemble paintings."

The Court Journal savs-

POLICE COURT.

Rain- Water and Women .- Samuel Hapgood and his lady were brought as common drunkards. Their neighbor, Mrs Taylor, testified that "they both get drunk so drunk, that they don't know what they are about, and run about their room burning shavings all night long." Mrs Taylor's testimony, however, though very forcible, was not very effective; for it come out, that between her and Mrs Hapgood there was a rainwater dispute in existence. Now all women declare that an infringement upon their rain-water privileges ' is enough to make a saint swear;" and certainly it is constitutionally declared-when the people have a provocation, or vexation, that would make a saint swear, would be sufficient to make a woman ......dodge the truth, or wring it, or sprinkle it, or starch t, or stiffen it, or rumple it or plait it, or stretch itor, finally, to make her an india rubber witness against any other woman who should defraud her of her portion of heaven's best gift to a washer-woman. It was therefore taken for granted, that Mrs Hapgood might have drank an ocean of rum, if she had not partaken of the rain-water; and Mrs Taylor was doomed to suffer a decided disappointment, in the anticipated effects of her vigorous testimony, which proved as deceptive as a rainless thunder-storm.

One of Mrs Taylor's boarders, a sailor, tried to sustain her by saying, of the defedant-"I spoke to her to be quiet, but she only gave me nothing but abuse, and a bad tongue." But this fact, however disagreeable to the witness, did not help his landlady much; for if the Court were to convict every woman of being a drunkard, who gave "bad tongue," it would be necessary to turn the whole City into a House of Correction, and fence in a little spot on the Common, for the accommodation of the select few, who gave good tongue to their neighbors in a dry time. Another circumstance in favor of the defendants, and of rare occurrence-very, very rare—was that a lady who lived in the room be-low them—an old maid, of seventy—(now grin ye little chits--ye pert hussies, in your teens)-an old maid, as was observed at the other end of the parenthesis, dea Catholic ; here a believer, and there an infidel. One of clared that the defendants never disturbed her. If such a veritable specimen of antique maidenhood expressed no dissatisfaction, certainly then should the voice of complaint from every other mouth be hushed and silent ; and so far from being blamed, the defendants should have been praised for so peaceably demeaning themselves, as not to have incurred the displeasure of a septuagenary maiden. Mrs Hapgood was at once discharged, the instant this fact was disclosed. As for Mr Hapgood, his eyes had not a watery cast; but were rather the accusers of the defendant to act as his jury, and a!- fiery-quite red round the edges. He tried to excuse it, by saying—"I have to work hard, and drink spirit of course." His honor nodded a little in token of dissent, but concluded to allow Hapgood ten days grace, The friends of justice have frequently remonstrated to learn a better system of dietics; and if he corrects his notions on this subject in that space of time, he will thereby avoid the House of Correction.

Rum-balm for trouble .- A German tailor, answering to the name of John Barker, was arraigned He replies that our courts are not adequate to answer upon a charge of being a common drunkard, but stood mute, and affected not to understand the complaint. The witnesses were also Germans, and one of them essayed to undeceive his Honor respecting Barker's ignorance of English, as follows :- "He onterstand what is dat you say so wellner I, if he want to know." This witness had known Barker—"four, five month and he get tronk efery time almost all the day -- yes, he ket tronk efery day--yesterday morning, he was go out, and say he take his scissors to grind, but he come home before dinner tronk quite, and call mine vife one beetch, and he call me de tem raskell. and de deef." Another witness, said of him, "he nefar ket sober, and yesterday he vas dronk as like de hoag." Barker looked as if he had " scissors to grind," which is established only to obey the will of an indig- and frankly confessed, adding a mitigating condition :-O, sarten-I drinks de leeckare-de Rum, when I'se be troubled sometime; and yesterday I'se take one snaap too big." GENUINE LIFE PRESERVERS.

From the Baltimore Patriot.

THE following paragraph, setting forth the value and importance of these Life Preservers, is from a late number of the New York Journal of Commerce. The expense of procuring a full supply of the article for every steamboat, would be comparatively inconsiderable, and englit not to enter into be comparatively inconsiderable, and ought not to enter into the calculation, when taking measures for adding to the safety of passengers, and for the preservation of human life. We learn that any number of these "Life Preservers" may be obtained at short notice of Messrs F. Hutchings & Co, in this LIFE PRESERVERS -As it is impossible for steamers to carry small boats enough to secure the lives of their passengers in case of disaster, they ought to be furnished with a sufficient quantity of the India Rubber Life Preservers. The expense quantity of the India Rubber Life Preservers. The expense would be small, and the security against the appalling scenes which may otherwise occur, would be will nigh complete.—The preserver is nothing more nor less than a double girth to be buckled round the body, which can be put on and inflated in less than a minute, and being on, the individual cannot sink, but would float with his head and shoulders above water for months. If five hundred persons were to be cast on Long Island Sound or Hudson River, each wito a Life Preserver on, they would be saved. But what would be their condition if obliged to betake themselves to these waters without such protection, especially if a disaster should happen in the night? We think the owners of steambouts owe it to their passengers to be provided with a sufficient number of Life Preservers always on hand, to furnish each passenger with one.

TREASURE—HEALTH PRESERVED—OR LOST, RESTORED.—SEARS'S AMERICAN HYGIENE VEGE-to TABLE RENOVATING FILLS, are now offered, for the benefit of the public, by the Author, under an honest persuasion, that the certificates of their efficacy and effects; and the references and testimony respecting his own reputation and character, will secure for them public confidence. They have been the result of much research and experiment, occasioned by unusual sufferings from Dyspepsia and a diseased liver for 30 years. During a considerable part of this period, it has been to me an object of anxious schichade, to discover some preparation of medicine better calculated to relieve me of my sufferings, than any I had herotolore used. And after many experiments in Materia Modica; and, among the vegetables of our country, I have surceeded in preparing a medicine, purely and entirely vegetable, which does in an eminent degree, answer that important and desirable object. Their effect is to excite and sustain a natural peristalic action in the stomach and intestines, and to produce a discharge from them of all the morbid and bilious matter which they contain; and also to remove biliary obstructions, and promote and sustain the natural secretions of the liver. Heaver they are peculiarly efficacious in curtostines, and to produce a discharge from them of an the more bid and bittons matter which they contain; and also to remove billary obstructions, and promote and sustain the natural secretions of the liver. Hence they are peculiarly efficacious in curing all discusses, originating from a disordered state of the stomach and howels; such as Indigestion, Costiveness, Bilious Choic, Nervous and Sick Heodache, Hypocondria, Yellow and Black Jaundice, Cholera Morbus, Cutaneous Eruptions, Erysipelus, Heartburn, Sourness of Stomach, and General Debhity. Their efficacy has been fairly and abundantly tested by my own experience and that of many others. They may, with perfect safety, be taken by both sexes, of all ages, in cases of indisposition; and they are peculiarly effectual in liver complaints. In offering them to the public, I pledge my reputation and character, that a perfect trial of their effects will satisfy them of their superior excellency. In regard to my reputation and character, I have permission to refer to the Right Rev Bishop Onderdonk and the Rev Dr Spring, of New York; and I would also present the two following certificates from the Hon John W. Taylor, and the Hon Judge S. Young, of Ballston Spa, whose characters are well known to the public: whose characters are well known to the public :-

VEGETABLE PULMONARY BALSAM, is the most valuable remedy how in use for coughs, colds, asthma or phthisic, whooping cough and pulmonary affections of every kind. Its sale is steadily increasing and the proprietors are constatuly receiving the most favorable account of its effects. The following new certificates are offered for public From Dr Samuel Morrill to the Proprietors of the Vegetable Pulmonary Balsam.

I am satisfied that the Vegetable Pulmonary Balsam is a valuable medicine. It has been used in this place with complete success in an obstinate complaint of the lungs, attended with a severe cough, loss of voice, and the raising of much blood, which had previously resisted many approved prescriptions. After using the Balsam one week, the patient's voice stays and he was empheled to sneak audity. This case occurred the stays are stays as a stay of the stay of the stays are stays as a stay of the sta returned, and he was enabled to speak audibly. This case oc-

Respectfully yours &c., SAMUEL MORRILL, M.D.

Concord, N. H. Jan 30, 1832.

From Mr Samuel Everett.

In October 1830, I was attacked with a cough accompanied with a severe pain in the side and difficulty of breathing. I resorted to several remedies but without effect. In January 1831, I was attended by a skilful physician, and subsequently respired the advice of several others—but the disease steadily 1831, I was attended by a skilful physician, and subsequently received the advice of several others—but the disease steadily increased; the cough was incessant, attended with a bloody and offensive expectoration; my flesh was wasted, my feet swollen and my strength extremely reduced. In April my case seemed utterly hopeless—I was told by my physicians that medicine could be of no further service to me, and it was not expected by any of my friends that I could survive a month. In this situation my daughter procured a bottle of the Vegetable Pulmonary Balsam, (which she had heard highly recommended for similar complaints,) and prevailed on me to make trial of it. Its use was attended with the most unexpected and happy result. It gave maintained the cough, except in the case of common colds.

feeted a cure. I have since been tree from pain in the side and cough, except in the case of common colds.

Boston, March 1, 1832.

"The Particular Caution. Each genuine bottle is enclosed in a blue wrapper, on which is a yellow label signed SAMPSON REED. ** None other can be genuine. The great celebrity of the genuine V. P. Balsam has been the cause of attempts to introduce spurious articles, which by partially assuming the name of the genuine, are calculated to mislead the public. Among these spurious mixtures are the 'Apperican Pulmonary Balsamie Syrun' &c., til Pur. Balsam, 'Vegetable Pulmonary Balsamic Syrup, '&c. † Purchasers should inquire for the true article by its whole name, and see that it has the marks and signature of the genuine. Sold by LOWE & REED, 24 Merchants' Row, and by drug-ists, generally. Price 50 cts. 2aw-19 gists, generally. Price 50 cts.

This is the most valuable remedy yet discovered for the cure of Throat Distemper, or Malignant, Putrid, Ulcerates Sore Throat, Scarlet Fever, Canker Rash, Canker in the Mouth, Throat and Bowels, Diarrhea, Dysseutary, Sore Mouth of nursing women, and Acrid Humors of Teething Children; in short, for almost all the affections of the Mucus membrane of the mouth, throat and alimentary canal. These diseases are acknowledged by all physicians to be of the most severe and obstinate character, and have long baffled their skilland research.

The discovery therefore of an effectual remedy for them, par ticularly for the various forms of Scarlet Fever, must be considered by every true philanthropist as an invaluable dosideratum. As a common and perfectly safe family medicine, it will be found of inestimable value in cases of common sere throats and colds—disordered state of the stomach and bowels—such PURE BEAR'S OIL may be had by the groce, dozen or single bottle, of A. BOYDEN, Hancock-st.

As in all cases, so especially in this, Venders, if they wish to secure the patronage of the public, should be extremely caused and debilitating diseases, such as consumption, &c; it will be found very heapericial as a cathartic and alterative, as it neither all debilitating diseases, such as consumption, &c; it will be found very beneficial as a cathartic and alterative, as it neither act rather than assist nature,

The virtues of Bear's Oil have been too long tested to need ary eulogium; and at this time no one can doubt of its being the very best article for strengthening and promoting the growth of the Hair. An honest prejudice against the use of Bear's Oil has long existed, arising from two causes—the improper method of purifying it, and the imposition upon the public of a spurious article. That this prejudice may be wholl rendered more pleasant by the addition of a little perfume—and the possibility of its injuring the Hair is entirely precluded by the manner in which it has been purified. To prevent fraud, the genuine is enclosed in two wrappers, the inside one being signed Arnold Bouden.
